

Workshop: *Effective Teaching for New or Prospective Faculty

Details

Location: Phoenix Convention Center, N-227C

Date: Sunday, Nov 13 from 3:30 – 6PM

This workshop highlights the skills needed to become an effective college or university educator. The session presenters will focus on important skills that all good teachers should work towards both inside and outside the classroom. This includes a discussion and presentation on several common scenarios related to teaching and the student-faculty interaction that early career faculty must often navigate. We encourage attendance for all early career and prospective faculty (including graduate students) whether attending for the first time or as a refresher course.

Presenters

- Lisa Bullard (North Carolina State University)
- David Silverstein (University of Kentucky)
- Don Visco (University of Akron)